D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

Cannon and Camera.

Sea and Land Battles of the Spanish-American War in Cuba, Camp Life, and the Return of the Soldiers. Described and illustrated by J. C. HEMMENT. With over 100 full-page pictures taken by the author, and an Index. Large 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

Mr. Hemment is probably the first photographer who has obtained at close range a complete series of pictures illustrating a war from its inception to its close. He was on the wreck of the Maine while the Commission was sitting. He saw the volunteers called into service, and visited Camp Black and Chickamauga. He was at Tampa and with Admiral Sampson's squadron, and he was at Santiago from the beginning to the surrender. Mr. Hemment was under fire with the Regulars and Rough Riders at El Caney, San Juan, and elsewhere, and he shared in the dramatic scenes preceding the capitulation. He witnessed the bombardments of Santiago, and saw Cervera's fleet destroyed. Later, Mr. Hemment was present at Camp Wikoff, and saw the return of the Regulars, the Rough Riders, and the Seventy-first Regiment.

Recollections of the Civil War.

By CHARLES A. DANA. With Portrait. Large 12mo, cloth, gilt top, uncut, $2.00.

The late Charles A. Dana's "Recollections of the Civil War" forms one of the most remarkable volumes of historical, political, and personal reminiscences which have been given to the public. Mr. Dana was not only practically a member of the Cabinet and in the confidence of the leaders of Washington, but he was also the chosen representative of the War Department with General Grant and other military commanders, and he was present at many of the councils which preceded movements of the greatest importance.

The History of the World.

From the Earliest Historical Time to the Year 1898.

By EDGAR SANDERSON, M.A., sometime Scholar of Clare College, Cambridge; author of "A History of the British Empire," etc. Uniform with "Natural History," "Astronomy," and "The Historical Reference-Book." Small 8vo, half leather, $2.00.

Foot-Notes to Evolution.

A Series of Popular Addresses on the Evolution of Life.

By DAVID STARR JORDAN, Ph.D., President of Leland Stanford, Junior, University. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The Pilot of the Mayflower.

By HEZEKIAH BUTTERWORTH, author of "True to His Home," "In the Boyhood of Lincoln," "The Zigzag Books," etc. Illustrated by H. Winthrop Peirce, and Others. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The Principles of Biology.

(Ready Next Week.)

By HERBERT SPENCER. Volume I., New Edition, revised and enlarged. Entirely reset. 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

The rapid progress in biology during the last generation has necessitated a revision of this work. The principal changes which Mr. Spencer has made are as follows: New chapters on Metabolism; The Dynamic Element of Life; Structure; Cell Life and Cell Multiplication; Genesis, Heredity, and Variation; and Recent Criticisms and Hypotheses. The chapter, The Arguments from Embryology, has been mainly rewritten, and there are a number of smaller additions, in the form of new sections incorporated in pre-existing chapters. The additions mentioned and three new appendices, The General Law of Animal Fertility, The Inadequacy of Natural Selection, etc., and The Inheritance of Functionally Wrought Modifications, have increased the size of the volume to 706 pages.

Latitude 19°.

A Romance of the West Indies in the Year of Our Lord 1820. Being a faithful account and true of the painful adventures of the Skipper, the Bo's'n, the Smith, the Mate, and Cynthia. By Mrs. SCHUYLER CROWN-INSHIELD. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Mrs. Crowninshield's first novel is a book which will be read and talked about. The local color is fresh and captivating, and the interest of novelty attaches to the historical background, including as it does the pirates and voodoo worshippers of the earlier part of the century in Haiti, and the strange figure of King Christophe. The unflagging interest of the adventures which are encountered is accompanied by a constant vein of delightful humor.

With the Black Prince.

A Story of Adventure in the Fourteenth Century. By WILLIAM O. STODDARD, author of "Little Smoke," "Crowded Out o' Crofield," "On the Old Frontier; or, The Last Raid of the Iroquois," etc. Illustrated by B. West Clineinst. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The Hero of Erie.

Commodore Perry. By JAMES BARNES, author of "Midshipman Farragut," "Commodore Bainbridge," etc. A new volume in the Young Heroes of Our Navy Series. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

The Impediment.

By DOROTHEA GERARD, author of "A Forgotten Sin," "Miss Providence," "A Spotless Reputation," "The Wrong Man," etc. (No. 253, Appletons' Town and Country Library.) 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

THESE BOOKS ARE FOR SALE BY ALL BOOKSELLERS.

MR. DOOLEY In Peace and in War

A COLLECTION of the conversations between Mr. Dooley and his friend Mr. Hennessy, which have been appearing during the War in the Chicago Journal and, earlier, in the Chicago Evening Post, and which have been copied in the leading newspapers from one end of the country to the other. Selected and revised by the author, with a new introduction giving an account of Mr. Dooley's habits of thought and his manner of life in Archey Road.

4½ x 7 inches. Cloth. Price, $1.25

Undoubtedly the most amusing book of the year, if not the most amusing ever published in this country.

Mr. E. S. MARTIN says in Harper's Weekly: "There is some doubt whether funny men who are not funny have a just claim on the forbearance of the public because their intentions are honorable, but there is no doubt that the funny man who is funny makes grateful debtors of us all. A really and truly funny man whose efforts deserve acknowledgment is Mr. Peter Dunne, of the Chicago Journal, the creator of Mr. Dooley. Dooley is a delicious person, who keeps well abreast of the times, forms opinions, and frees his mind of them to excellent purpose. His observations on the recent visit of the President to Chicago, and the speeches and occurrences incident to it, wind up with this:

"What do you think ought to be done with th' fruits iv victhry?" Mr. Hennessy asked.

"Well," said Mr. Dooley, "if 'twas up to me, I'd eat what was r-ripe an' give what wasn't r-ripe to me inimy. An' I guess that's what Mack means."

"Let us hope that Dooley has guessed right. He is a valuable man, one to be prized for his personal characteristics, for his intellectual attributes, for his gift of satire, and his remarkable turn for the use of language."

NOTES IN SEASON.

SMALL, MAYNARD & CO., Boston, will publish at once a humorous description of the experience of "Mr. Dooley, in Peace and in War."

D. APPLETON & CO. will publish at once an interesting souvenir of the war in Cuba and of life in the camps in this country, in J. C. Hemment's book "Cannon and Camera." The author was an eye-witness of the most important events during the campaign in Cuba. Over one hundred pictures are included in his book, which has much value as an actual pictorial history of the war in Cuba. They will publish at the same time the late Charles A. Dana's "Recollections of the Civil War," one of the most remarkable volumes of historical, political, and personal reminiscences recently given to the public.

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS announce for immediate publication a book entitled "Nothing but Nonsense," by Mary Kernahan; "Twentieth Century Magic," a book on parlor tricks, mechanical, chemical, and electrical, and on the construction of modern magical apparatus, by Neil Monroe Hopkins; a new and revised edition of Routledge's Series of Histories, in words of one syllable, which includes the history of all modern countries and some ancient ones by well known authors. They have just published "The Travellers, and Other Stories," written and pictured by Mrs. Arthur Gaskin; also, "A Small, Small Child," by E. Livingston Prescott.

DODD, MEAD & CO. will publish next week Hamilton W. Mabie's new book, "The Forest of Arden," with illustrations by Will H. Low; "Maids, Wives, and Bachelors," by Amelia E. Barr, who in this volume has gathered together a number of essays on woman originally written for the North American Review and other journals; "American Bookmen," sketches on Washington Irving, James Fenimore Cooper, William Cullen Bryant, and others, by M. A. DeWolfe Howe; "Miscellanies," a new volume of essays on Jane Austen, Goldsmith, and other writers of the 18th century, by Austin Dobson; "The Emperor of Germany at Home," by Maurice Leudet, translated by Virginia Taylour; "W. V.'s Golden Legend," a delightful book for children by William Canton, author of "The Invisible Playmate"; "The Gospel of Joy," by Stopford A. Brooke, a companion volume to "The Old Testament and Modern Life," published two years ago; and "Mr. Froude and Thomas Carlyle," by David Wilson, who is publishing in this volume the results of his investigations into Mr. Froude's narrative, which he considers utterly untrustworthy, especially concerning the relations of Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY has just published a new edition of James Lane Allen's "The Choir Invisible," with illustrations by Orson Lowell; "Home Life in Colonial Days," by Alice Morse Earle, well known for her works on the customs and fashions, etc., of old New England and colonial times, with illustrations from photographs, gathered by the author, of real things, works, and happenings of the olden time; also, "The Great Salt Lake Trail," a companion volume to "The Old Santa Fé Trail," by Col. Henry Inman and Hon. William F. Cody ("Buffalo Bill,"), with eight full-page plates by F. Coman Clarke and a number of drawings in the text. They will publish in a few weeks "The Autobiography of a Veteran," by General Enrico della Rocca, translated by Mrs. Janet Ross, author of "Three Generations of English Women." This work is a contribution to contemporary history. The subject of the memoir, who was born in 1807, was over 90 years old when he died. It contains a curious account of life in Piedmont in the early part of the century, and much personal matter about Louis Napoleon, Cavour, Garibaldi, and the Savoy Princes, which will be of particular interest to the student of European affairs during this century. General della Rocca's long and active career in the public service necessarily makes his biography a comment on, and an account of, the stirring actions which have resulted in an independent and united Italy.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The political and social conditions of Europe between the reigns of Louis XVI. and Louis XVIII. are described in a story of which the chief incidents centre in the Hungarian army employed against Napoleon in 1809. The intrigues, scandals, secret police, women and child spies in the employ of the various factions are brought out in a complicated plot of which the scene shifts from Paris to Hungary. The leading character is a woman famed for her marvellous success, an unscrupulous and most daring intriguer for the citizens' party of France.

Lewis, H. H., ed. A gunner aboard the Yankee; from the diary of number five of the after-port gun: the yarn of the cruise and fights of the Naval Reserves in the Spanish-American war; ed. by H. H. Lewis; with introd. by W. T. Sampson. N. Y., Doubleday & McClure Co., 1898. c. 15+312 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3646]

From the time the auxiliary cruiser Yankee left New York in April, manned by the New York Naval Reserves, until its return in September, its story was one of adventure, mingled with a great deal of fun. The whole story is told here from the diaries of some of the "Jackies." It is also illustrated from photographs taken on the spot. Several interesting signal charts are given.

*Macaulay, T. Babington (Lord.) The life and writings of Addison; with notes and appendix by R. F. Winch. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. 6+211 p. 8°, (Macmillan's English classics.) cl., net, 50 c. [3647]

Scudder, Vida Dutton. Social ideals in English letters. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1898. c. 4+329 p. O. cl., $1.75. [3663]

A survey of English literature from Piers Plowman to William Morris, to ascertain what apprehension of the organization and life of human society men of intellectual power and penetration have shown. Piers Plowman, More's Utopia, Swift, Shelley, Wordsworth, Thackeray, Dickens, George Eliot, Charles Reade, and others are passed in review, with critical discrimination, yet with a generous enthusiasm which lends to the volume a very positive interest. It is a fresh and original contribution from the literary side to the discussion of social questions so prominent in the life and thought of to-day.

*Shakespeare, W: Scenes from Shakespeare, for use in schools; selected and arr. by Mary A. Woods. The story of the casket and rings from "The merchant of Venice." N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1898. 77 p. 16°, pap., net, 40 c. [3664]

Stables, W: Gordon, M.D. A pirate's gold: a true story of buried treasure. N. Y., T: Nelson & Sons, 1899 [1898.] 4-137 p. il. D. cl., 60 c. [3666]

The pirate's gold is supposed to be the treasure-trove reputed to have been buried by the celebrated English buccaneer, Henry Morgan, and a Spaniard named Bassanto, in the seventeenth century. The time of the story is in the nineteenth century. An ancestor of Bassanto was so impressed when he read the account of the hidden treasure in an old log that he decided to equip a vessel and search for the hidden gold. The incidents of the voyage make an adventurous story.

*Stedman, T: L., M.D., ed. Twentieth century practice: an international encyclopædia of modern medical science, by leading authorities of Europe and America. In 20 v. V. 15. N. Y., W: Wood & Co., 1898. il. 8°, cl., subs., $5; leath., $6; hf. mor., $7.50. [3667]

Stevens, G: Barker. The Epistles of Paul in modern English: a paraphrase. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1898. c. 7+381 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3668]

"In this volume I have sought to reproduce the thought of Paul's Epistles, and of the kindred letter to the Hebrews, in the language of to-day. The terms of our English versions have purposely been avoided, so far as practicable, because their very familiarity is often a hindrance to the apprehension of the meaning. I have hoped to awaken a fresh interest in the apostle's thoughts by breaking up the form in which he expressed them and by setting forth his ideas in a free modern rendering."—Preface.

Wallace, Lew. The fair god: a tale of the conquest of Mexico; il. by Eric Pape. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., [1898.] c.

'73, '98. 2 v., 38+352; 16+450 p. O. cl., $7; large-pap. ed., 2 v., O. cl., net, $20. [3672]

This dramatic story of the conquest of Mexico by Cortes now appears in an entirely new and peculiarly attractive form. It is printed from beautiful new plates and generously illustrated by Eric Pape. He has furnished the designs for forty full-page photographs, seventy-six head-pieces, and seventy-six rubricated initials and tail-pieces. For these designs Mr. Pape went to Mexico, gathering inspiration upon the very scene of the story.

Ranald Vemundsson, a Norwegian Viking, is driven from his kingdom by the high-handed methods of King Harald Fairhair. Ranald tells the story himself in a graphic style. After leaving Norway in his own ship he meets with many surprising adventures, and finally serves under the great King Alfred of England, who is at that time repelling the invasion of the Danes. Ranald is placed in charge of Alfred's fleet and bears himself nobly. An excellent account of the first king of England, the absorption of the Danes, and their final conversion to Christianity.

From the same sections were imported books, etc., dutiable, as follows, from Nova Scotia, etc., $1,435; from Quebec, etc., $24,230; from British Columbia, $956, making a total of $27,640. During the same period the United States exported to Nova Scotia, etc., books to the amount of $57,232; to Quebec, etc., $623,688; to British Columbia, $30,705, making a total of $716,625.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

NOVEMBER 19, 1898.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE CHRISTMAS OUTLOOK.

THE bookstores are already well filled with Christmas books, and the Christmas buyer, sparsely and timidly at first, but in increasing numbers and with increasing valor as the holidays come near, is beginning to find his way into the shops. May his tribe increase and multiply in this year of grace until the piles of books disappear before him.

The trend of the holiday trade in publishing and, necessarily, in retailing, in recent years, has been more and more in the direction of standard and solid literature, until there are now few books left of the ordinary holiday type of yore. This is, on the whole, a healthful and encouraging sign, although, in the usual recurrence of fashions, it is not impossible that there may be within a few years a reaction in the direction of the gift-book of olden time, bettered and uplifted with the progress of intelligence and culture. It is the more necessary, therefore, in these days, that booksellers should know their stock, and be ready to point out its solid qualities as well as its more superficial allurements.

Most of the publishers report good sales, and a satisfactory tone of expectation is evident among the retail trade. One of the younger publishing houses, in fact, has done so well with its books as practically to exhaust the editions possible to provide before the holidays, so that it has come to a standstill in its trade advertising, and has reason only to advertise to the public in support of the booksellers. This is a happy consummation—except for THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY—and gives earnest of confidence on the part of the retail trade and of the public that is most satisfactory.

It is, of course, a mistake for retail dealers to over-order, but it is not less a mistake to under-order. The Christmas trade comes always with a rush, and books that cannot be had until "next week" cannot be sold on the last days before Christmas. It is well, therefore, for the retailer to go carefully over his stock of standard books and his holiday orders, and make sure that, without undue extravagance of hope, he has sufficient quantity of the safe and attractive lines to fill his probable Christmas orders.

We point out, as usual, that one of the best helps in making holiday trade is the holiday publication, of which this office issues two favorite standbys, in The Christmas Bookshelf, its own Christmas number, and the Christmas issue of the Literary News. Both are well advanced this year toward early publication, and we shall be glad to have orders for the copies not so far subscribed for by the trade. After the issue of these publications it is, of course, impossible to reprint them in time to supply additional demand.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETIES.

THE BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY, of London, which was founded in 1892, counts among its members upwards of sixty Americans. Indeed, from its very inception the society included American members—the names of Beverley Chew, Theodore L. De Vinne, Robert Hoe, and the late Justin Winsor, as well as two or three other prominent librarians, being found in its first list of members. Among the English members were most of the British Museum men, William Morris, Joseph Pennell, and other well-known names, including the best-known librarians, collectors, and publishers. In 1894 it was decided to limit the membership in the society to 300. A. W. Pollard, of the British Museum, was appointed the London secretary of the society, and Ernest Dressel North, of Charles Scribner's Sons, in New York, the American secretary. There are also fifteen candidate, or honorary, members, who enjoy all the privileges of regular members except that of voting.

The principal objects of the Bibliographical Society, whose members are convinced of the fact that bibliography is rapidly becoming an exact science and that their society has a great future before it are: (1) the acquisition of information upon subjects connected with bibliography; (2) the promotion and encouragement of bibliographical studies and researches; (3) the printing and publishing of books connected with or relating to bibliography; and (4) the founding of a library of reference and bibliographical works.

The society has thus far published and distributed free of cost to its members six illustrated monographs:

1. "Erhard Radolt and his work at Venice," by Gilbert R. Redgrave.
2. "Jan Van Doesburgh, Printer at Antwerp" by Robert Proctor.
3. "An Iconography of Don Quixote, 1605-1895," by H. S. Ashbee.
4. "The Early Printers of Spain and Portugal," by Konrad Haebler.
5. "A Reprint of the text of 'Le Chevalier Délibéré,'" by Olivier de la Marche, with preface by Dr. F. Lippmann, and the illustrations of the edition of Schiedam.

6. "The First Paris Press, an account of the books printed for G. Fichet and J. Heynlin in the Sorbonne, 1470-1472," by A. Claudin.

Besides these monographs, which are judiciously and often lavishly illustrated, there have been issued two volumes of "Hand Lists of Early English Printers," 1501-1556; a "Classified Index to the Serapeum" (popularly known as Naumann's Serapeum), by Robert Proctor; and, "Robert Wyer, Printer and Bookseller," by Henry R. Plomer.

The meetings of the society are held monthly, from October to June, inclusive, on the third Monday in each month. The annual subscription to the society is one guinea, payable in advance. The first meeting of the 1898-99 session will be held on the 21st inst., on which occasion H. S. Ashbee will read a paper on "Some Books about Cervantes." The next annual meeting will be held on December 19, and will be followed by a short paper by F. Shum on "Early Bath Books."

At the various meetings many valuable and interesting papers have been read, all of which have been reprinted in the volumes of transactions, issued from time to time, and sent to the members. Four of these have been published thus far, the latest volume bearing date of July, 1898. Among the papers reprinted is one by Henry B. Wheatly on "The Present Condition of English Bibliography, and Suggestions for the Future." Another interesting paper was that on "Incunabula," read by L. J. Aldrich, of the British Museum. The interest of a paper on "The Ideal Book" may be gathered from the fact that it was read by the owner of the Kelmscott Press, the late William Morris. Charles J. Jacobi, of the Chiswick Press, read a practical paper on the "Printing of the Modern Book," and Joseph Pennell discoursed upon "English book illustrations of 1860"—a period when English illustrations reached the highest point of artistic excellence. Other interesting papers were "The Lutheran Press at Wittenberg," by G. F. Barwich; a "List of Books and Papers on Printers and Printing," by Talbot B. Reed, and "English Books Printed Abroad," by A. W. Pollard.

While Bibliographica, the English quarterly, which was published by Kegan Paul, Trench, Trübner & Co. for a period of three years, was in no sense connected with or issued by the Bibliographical Society, yet a glance at its table of contents, as a writer in the New York Times points out, will show that more than half of the papers there published were written by members of the society, and it is more than probable that without exaggeration the majority of subscribers to the society were also subscribers to the quarterly.

The society's library is growing slowly, both through purchase and by gifts from members, and will no doubt in good time become a valuable feature of its work. Two rough lists of its volumes have already been issued to members, and many recent additions have been made.

The president of the society is the Right Hon. the Earl of Crawford, who succeeded Dr. Garnett, of the British Museum, at the last annual meeting. Perhaps the most interesting of the books promised for the present year is an illustrated monograph by Henry B. Wheatly, on "Portraits in English Books."

The success of the Bibliographical Society has encouraged Fedor von Zobelitz, the editor of the Zeitschrift für Bücherfreunde, to call into life a similar society in Germany. Steps have been taken to complete an organization which, very likely, will have its home in Berlin, and its mouthpiece in the Zeitschrift für Bücherfreunde.

COMPARATIVE LITERATURE SOCIETY.

THE COMPARATIVE LITERATURE SOCIETY'S programme for the year is just published. It includes two addresses in "Celtic Literature," by the Right Rev. Monsignor Thomas Conaty, rector of the Catholic University of America; and ten studies of "Folk Lore," by scholars of distinction. All these will be given on Saturday mornings. There will also be two evening addresses, the first by T. W. Higginson, on "Men I Have Met," the second, by Charles Eliot Norton on "The Worth of Poetry to the Business Man." The first morning session this season was held on the 12th inst., when T. W. Higginson delivered an address on "America in Contemporary Literature."

The society was organized in 1897, and has now a membership of 300. Its council consists of H. H. Furness, T. W. Higginson, W. D. Howells, R. H. Stoddard, and Charles Dudley Warner, with Charles Sprague Smith managing director. Membership is open to all on payment of the annual fee of $10. The lectures of the society are given in Carnegie Lyceum.

THE SCRIBNER EXHIBITION OF BOOK-BINDINGS.

AN unusually rich collection of fine book-bindings is now shown by Charles Scribner's Sons, at their annual exhibition of this branch of artistic work. As in former seasons, care has been taken to secure examples of the highest skill of the best English, French, and American binders. Nearly all the well-known masters of the craft have sent specimens, and there are some new binders represented this year whose work gives promise of much merit. Among the binders represented are Marius Michel, Chambolle-Duru, Meunier, The Guild of Women Bookbinders of London, Rivière, Zaehnsdorf, The Doves Bindery, Cobden-Sanderson, Stoakley, Miss Prideaux, Chivers, Stikeman, Miss Bulkley—a new binder and a pupil of the late Miss Nordhoff—Zahn, and Dudley & Hodge.

In connection with the specimens of fine binding a number of rare first editions of famous works are shown which will interest book-lovers. The exhibition will remain open until and during November 23.

WAR TAX ON COPYRIGHT.

THE INTERNAL REVENUE COMMISSION has ruled that certificates of copyright are for private and personal use and are subject to a tax of ten cents under the war tax. Commissioner Scott construes the law to be that the stamps shall be affixed by the officer issuing the certificate, but paid for by those to whom such certificates are issued.

INJUNCTION AGAINST "REMINGTON'S FRONTIER SKETCHES."

JUDGE LACOMBE, of the United States Circuit Court, for the Southern District of New York, issued a temporary injunction on the 16th inst. against the American News Company in an injunction brought by Gen. Nelson A. Miles and Frederic Remington, to restrain the News Company from selling a book entitled "Remington's Frontier Sketches." It is claimed in the bill of complaint that this book of sketches is an infringement of the copyright covering "Personal Recollections of Gen. Nelson A. Miles," a book which was published by the Werner Company, of Akron, Ohio, and which was copyrighted by General Miles in 1896. The alleged infringing book purports to be published by the Werner Company. It consists of facsimile reproductions of fifteen sketches made by Frederic Remington as illustrations of General Miles's book.

The temporary injunction is accompanied by an order, returnable November 25, directing the American News Company to show cause why an injunction should not issue pending the action. It is understood that other booksellers will be proceeded against. Suit will also be begun against the Werner Company.

ANGLO-AMERICAN COPYRIGHT.

THE London Times published on the morning of the 15th inst. a letter from the Secretary of the Copyright Association, who appeals to the Anglo-American Commission at Washington to endeavor to induce the United States to repeal the manufacturing clauses of the Copyright Act of 1891, which, he says, would be a "valuable proof of the sincerity of the goodwill the United States now displays toward England."

MAY REPRINT "BULFINCH'S AGE OF FABLE."

JUDGE LOWELL, of the United States Circuit Court, held in Boston, Mass., on November 4, declined to issue a preliminary injunction to restrain the defendants in the case of S. W. Tilton vs. Eben D. Jordan, et al., from the alleged infringement of the plaintiff's copyright on the book entitled "The Age of Fable; or, Beauties of Mythology, by Thomas Bulfinch."

A NOVEL BOOK EXHIBITION.

THE CENTURY COMPANY has taken possession of the show windows of a number of vacated stores at the Northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street, and there gives a striking and original exhibition of books, pictures, manuscripts, and mementos of the late Spanish-American War, together with many pieces of literary and artistic work which deal with other themes. One of the windows is given up to the new books issued by The Century Company—Dr. Weir Mitchell's "François," Mrs. Burton Harrison's "Good Americans," etc. The other is devoted to The Century, especially the November number, in which is begun a remarkable series of papers on the late war. Here are Miss Cecilia Beaux's portraits, from life, of Admiral Sampson and Lieutenant Hobson, and the originals of other illustrations by well-known artists; the flag and pennant of the captain's gig of the Maine, loaned by Captain Sigbee; a part of the manuscript of Hobson's account of the sinking of the Merrimac; sign-boards, etc., from Porto Rico; and the original of Grasset's "Alexander the Great" magazine cover-design. Eight large windows, running along Twenty-sixth Street towards Broadway, are given up to different publications of the same house: the first to St. Nicholas; the next to the Century Dictionary, Cyclopedia, and Atlas; the third to Timothy Cole's engravings from the Old Masters, surrounding Wyatt Eaton's oil portrait of the engraver; and the fourth to the Civil War Series, authorized "Life of Lincoln," "Memoirs" of General Grant, etc., with the bronze death-mask of Lincoln, autographs of Grant, Lee, McClellan, Mosby, etc., and the manuscript of "We are Coming, Father Abraham!" and of Stedman's Lincoln poem. The fifth window is bright with the red morocco covers of Sloane's monumental "Napoleon Bonaparte," flanked by the water-color paintings made to illustrate it. The other three windows are filled with children's books, original designs for posters, diplomas from the Paris and Chicago expositions, views of The Century office, etc. Changes will be made from time to time, during this month and December, in the objects displayed in this unique gallery of art and literature.

WORK OF THE NEW YORK BIBLE SOCIETY.

THE seventy-fourth annual report of the New York Bible Society for the year just closing contains a large amount of information connected with the work of the society in distributing Bibles and Testaments in the city of New York. Special work has been done in the camps and on the field among the soldiers and at the navy yard among the sailors. Among the distributions for the year were: Public institutions, churches, and Sunday-schools, 12,618 volumes; among 205,422 immigrants arriving, 22,640 volumes; to sailors in the harbor, 5,260 volumes; to soldiers and sailors, 10,986 volumes. The total distribution for the year was 54,091 volumes.

OBITUARY NOTES.

EDWARD P. WILLIAMS, member of the firm of Williams Brothers, publishers of cheap editions of novels in New York, died in Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 2d inst., aged 82. His firm also published two weekly papers in Boston—The Yankee and Uncle Sam. Williams was one of the founders of Typographical Union No. 6.

THE well-known Canadian author and poet, Mrs. Sarah A. Curzon, died at Toronto, Canada, on the 6th inst., aged 65. She was born in Birmingham, Eng., and went to Canada when quite young. She was a contributor to American, Canadian, and British periodicals. She wrote a few years ago a drama called "Laura Secord," the title taking the name of the heroine of 1812 who walked all night through the woods from the Niagara frontier to Stony Creek, near Hamilton, to notify the Canadians of the approach of the American forces, driving a cow before her to divert suspicion.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MAURICE HEWLETT, author of "The Forest Lovers," has recently completed a story of mediæval life which he entitles "The Madonna of the Peach Tree."

ACCORDING to the London Bookman, J. M. Barrie has now written more than half of the sequel to "Sentimental Tommy." The provisional title is "The Celebrated Tommy," but this may be changed. Mr. Barrie will not be able to finish the work in time for its appearance in Scribner's Magazine this year, but it will be begun in that periodical in 1900.

JUSTIN HUNTLEY MCCARTHY, ex-member of the British Parliament and son of Justin McCarthy, arrived in New York on the 12th inst. He comes to deliver a series of lectures, beginning at Nashville, Tenn., and covering the South and West. Mr. McCarthy's short history of the United States will be published simultaneously in London and Chicago on the 21st inst.

ROSTAND is not altogether unlucky in his relations with the American public. It is reported on the authority of the Doubleday & McClure Company that Richard Mansfield's production of "Cyrano" is bringing in its author about $100 a day; and Miss Hall's translation pays him royalty on each copy of the twelve thousand or so already sold. He is said to have written to an American friend entirely disclaiming any dissatisfaction with this country.

OF Count Tolstoy's three daughters, the youngest is only fourteen years old. The oldest, whose name is Tatjana, is said to have shown considerable talent in painting, while the second daughter, Maria Lwowna, has nearly completed a drama, the hero of which is a young apostle of her father's ideas, who falls in love with a woman of the world. The Count's wife has also written some things, but has not cared to see them in print. "What figure would the Countess cut as an author by the side of the Count?" she remarked to a recent visitor. She has, however, kept a diary for many years, which will prove of great value to biographers. She says that the letters written by and to the Count are not to be printed for fifty years to come.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Chapman's Magazine has passed into the hands of the proprietors of The Idler, and will, after the November number, appear as Crampton's Magazine. The magazine will, as heretofore, be edited by Oswald Crawford, and will continue to appear as a magazine of pure fiction.

LAST year Charles Dana Gibson illustrated "The People of Dickens" for The Ladies' Home Journal. The pictures were so successful that this year, and during next year, W. L. Taylor, the New England artist, who has made such rapid strides in his art, will illustrate "The People of Longfellow," also for The Ladies' Home Journal. Among poems selected are "The Psalm of Life," "Hiawatha," "Evangeline," "The Courtship of Miles Standish," "The Children's Hour," and "The Village Blacksmith."

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—F. J. Drake, for the past eight years buyer and manager for the book department of Montgomery Ward & Co., will leave them on January 1 next to enter into the publishing and commission book business. We wish him success in his new venture.

GREENVILLE, S. C.—A. J. Cassidy has opened a bookstore under the Glenn-Ethel hotel, where he has a full line of books, stationery, and magazines.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—The business of O. B. Stephens & Co., booksellers, has gone into the hands of a receiver.

NEW YORK CITY.—Alfred Henry Lewis, writer, and former Washington correspondent, intends to become a publisher, with Oliver H. P. Belmont as his financial backer. The Verdict Publishing Company, capitalized at $5000, was incorporated on the 10th inst. to publish books, magazines, and periodicals. The directors are A. H. Lewis, O. H. P. Belmont, and James A. McMahon. Mr. Belmont subscribed $4900, Lewis $50, and McMahon $50. During the recent election campaign in New York Mr. Lewis wrote articles for a newspaper organ of Tammany Hall, and also did some campaign work for Richard Croker. It is reported that the new company intends to publish a weekly.

NEW YORK CITY.—Truslove & Comba, publishers, have been succeeded by Truslove, Hanson & Comba.

ST. JOHNSBURG, VT.—Don C. Stiles is closing out his cigar and tobacco business and will devote his entire time to his ticket agency and building up a stationery and book-trade.

SHREVEPORT, LA.—Isaac Barron, bookseller, has sold out to Sam Cohn.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE New England Bookmen will dine at Young's Hotel, Boston, December 12, at 6 P.M.

THE CLARENDON PRESS (Henry Frowde) has recently published "A Dictionary of Proper Names and Notable Matters in the Works of Dante," by Paget Toynbee.

D. C. HEATH & Co. have in press Francisque Sarcey's "Le Siège de Paris," a new volume in their Modern Language Series. The selection is valuable from the historical point of view, and interesting in its picture of the varying emotions and the daily life of Paris, in the trying ordeal of 1870-71. It combines the interest of fiction with reading that is not fiction.

BARRY O'BRIEN'S "Life of Parnell" and Kipling's descriptive letters to the London Morning Post on the British fleet have been the two literary events of the week in England. According to the latest despatches T. P. O'Connor already has applied for an injunction to stop the sale of O'Brien's book, on the ground that it contains libellous matter concerning himself.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish immediately G. W. Steevens' "With Kitchener to Khartum," a dramatic narrative of the recent taking of Omdurman by the Sirdar. Mr. Stee-vens, the well-known traveller and writer, acted as special correspondent for a London daily during the entire campaign, and his narrative is a memorable contribution to the literature of battle and travel.

JOHN LANE will publish next week a volume of the early work of Aubrey Beardsley, with over a hundred illustrations; Ben Jonson's "Volpone," illustrated by Aubrey Beardsley; "A Hundred Fables of Æsop," with an introductory note by Kenneth Grahame and 100 full-page illustrations by P. J. Billingham; also, Walter Crane's picture book, including "Red Riding Hood," "The Forty Thieves," and "Jack and the Beanstalk."

THE November dinner of the Booksellers' League, held on the evening of the 16th inst., in point of numbers was one of the most successful held thus far. The after-dinner talks by the artists F. Reuter and Dan C. Beard, Mr. Christy being unavoidably absent, and Frank N. Doubleday and Charles F. Wingate were quite enjoyable. Later in the evening the League informally talked shop. Frank Marling acted as chairman in a most felicitous manner.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY is making arrangements to sell the original drawings of the pictures printed in Wide Awake during the years when it was published by D. Lothrop & Co. The pictures will be arranged for their exhibition in Boston by Charles Stuart Pratt, who was art editor of the magazine. They include water-color designs for the covers of the magazine and its bound volumes, and some thousands of black-and-white pictures of various sizes. Their original cost was more than a hundred thousand dollars.

"FROM Reefer to Rear-Admiral," by the late Rear-Admiral Benjamin F. Sands, is announced by the Frederick A. Stokes Co. for publication early in 1899. In it are given the recollections of a busy naval life from 1828 to 1883, bringing in persons and events now historic. Farragut, Porter, Rodgers, Sands, Rowan, Ammen, Jenkins, and Worden figure in it, as do Generals Jackson and Grant, Garibaldi, Don Pedro I., and others. Incidents in the Mexican War, the War of the Rebellion, and the slave trade of the West African coast are narrated, and in general much interesting matter heretofore unpublished will fill the pages of the book.

FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT, New York, will shortly publish a volume of stories by Miss Jeanne G. Pennington, whose little book of "Don't Worry Nuggets" has been so widely circulated. It is entitled "Some Marked Passages." The prelude gives a scene in an hospital office, on the arrival of a package of books for the entertainment of patients, which not only have been read but show underlined passages here and there. The effect of these "marked passages" on certain dramatically pictured cases among the patients gives opportunity for some keen study of human nature, and especially of mental pathology. The stories are of a curious interest—strong, clear, often pathetic, even tragic, and not without a subtle humor which adds to their attractiveness.

A POSTHUMOUS Carlyle volume is soon to see the light, entitled "Historical Sketches of Noted Persons and Events in the Reigns of James I. and Charles I." These studies were for a projected history of the first two Stuart Kings of England, and are printed from a manuscript left by the author's will to his niece, and edited by her husband, Alex. Carlyle, of Edinburgh. The portion devoted to James I. contains chapters on Elizabeth's funeral, on Shakspeare, the Gunpowder Plot, the Hampton Court Conference, Bog of Lindsey, material progress in England, especially in London, etc., with the annotations—exclamations—of the celebrated Smellfungus, while throughout there are glimpses of Carlyle's great hero Oliver, "gliding out and in, like the moon in a wet night."

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE CO. will publish just before Christmas a little volume on "Church Sociables and Entertainments" which will give practical suggestions and many ideas, tested by actual trial, for the successful carrying through of sociables, celebrations, pantomimes, and all such difficult functions where the problem is to provide entertainment for an entirely haphazard and indiscriminate gathering. They announce, in addition to their successful bird books with colored plates, second editions of Conan Doyle's "Songs of Action," Jokai's "The Nameless Castle," and "A Gunner Aboard the Yankee"; the tenth thousand each of Ruth Ashmore's "The Business Girl" and Mrs. Rorer's "Good Cooking"; twelfth thousand of Gertrude Hall's prose translation of "Cyrano de Bergerac," by Edmond Rostand; the fifteenth thousand of Miss Wilkins's "People of our Neighborhood"; twenty-eighth thousand of "The Day's Work," by Rudyard Kipling (with another edition in sight); forty-fourth thousand of "Tales from McClure's"; and seventy-sixth thousand of the "Little Masterpieces," which Professor Bliss Perry has been editing.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. publish to-day the Illustrated edition of John Fiske's "The Beginnings of New England; or, the Puritan theocracy in its relations to civil and religious liberty," which is also issued in a large-paper edition limited to 250 copies; "The Life and Letters of the Apostle Paul," by Dr. Lyman Abbott, who argues that the history of actual organized Christianity through the ages is the history of the intermingling of the three conceptions—the pagan conception of God as one whose wrath must be satisfied by a sacrifice, the Jewish conception of God as a lawgiver who can be approached only by obedience to his laws, and the Christian conception of God as a father who gives life freely to all who will accept the gift—the last of which Dr. Abbott regards as the special gospel of Paul; "The Making and the Unmaking of the Preacher," lectures treating of the conditions of modern preaching, especially of the influences which are affecting the personality of the preacher, delivered in March, 1898, on the Lyman Beecher Foundation before the divinity students at Yale, by Dr. William Jewett Tucker, President of Dartmouth College; "Samuel E. Sewall," a memoir of the famous chief-justice of Massachusetts in colonial days, by Nina Moore Tiffany; and "Select Essays on Dante," by Karl Witte, translated by C. Mabel Lawrence, and edited by Philip H. Wicksteed.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

Spirit Slate Writing and Kindred Phenomena

BY

"Man of Mystery."

155 PAGES. 66 ILLUSTRATIONS. PRICE $1.00, POSTPAID.

The author is a well-known authority on magic art, with which he has been identified for the past twenty-five years. From childhood he has been accustomed to seeing prominent prestidigitateurs, both at home and abroad, and he has been able to gather many valuable secrets from them. Many of his ideas have been utilized by American conjurers. For many years he was the right hand man of the late Alexander Herrmann, and was also associated with Kellar. He was the original exponent of "Black Art," "Astarte," "Out of Sight" and kindred novelties. In his youth Mr. Robinson was brought up in the spiritualistic belief, but when he commenced to dabble in magic and understood its mysteries, the phenomena he often witnessed at séances became mere tricks and illusions. He has made it a study of his lifetime to acquaint himself with the methods employed by mediums to dupe their victims, and on this account the work is of standard value. It will be one of the most popular books of the year. A full Table of Contents is sent on application.

MAGIC

Stage Illusions and Scientific Diversions,
INCLUDING TRICK PHOTOGRAPHY.

By A. A. HOPKINS.

568 PAGES. 420 ILLUSTRATIONS. PRICE, $2.50.

This work appeals to old and young alike, and it is one of the most attractive holiday books of the year. The illusions are illustrated by the highest class of engravings, and the exposés of the tricks are, in many cases, furnished by the prestidigitateurs themselves. Conjuring, large stage illusions, fire-eating, sword-swallowing, ventriloquism, mental magic, ancient magic, automata, curious toys, stage effects, photographic tricks, and the projection of moving photographs are all well described and illustrated, making a handsome volume. It is tastefully printed and bound. Acknowledged by the profession to be the

By SYDNEY GEORGE FISHER.

The True Benjamin Franklin.

The author has been able, by dint of long and patient labor, to make what is certainly one of the most complete, authoritative, and entertaining personal histories in existence. This work challenges attention for the really valuable light which it throws upon the character of BENJAMIN FRANKLIN. The picture which Mr. Fisher here draws of him is careful, life-like, and impressive in the extreme. While his exhaustive researches have resulted in humanizing Franklin, "and making him a man rather than an historical figure," a fair and intelligent reader, we submit, will arise from the chapters of Mr. Fisher's work with a larger conception of Franklin's character, endowments, and equipment. The work embodies a surprising measure of information on a most important as well as interesting subject.

THE TRUE BENJAMIN FRANKLIN. (Uniform with "The True George Washington.") By SYDNEY GEORGE FISHER, author of "Men, Women, and Manners in Colonial Times," "The Making of Pennsylvania," etc.

With numerous illustrations, portraits, and facsimiles.

Crown 8vo. Cloth, $2.00.

Previous Important Works by Mr. Fisher.

Men, Women, and Manners in Colonial Times.

"The author's work is a blending of grave history, amusing anecdote, extracts from diaries, and graphic word pictures. He has an admirable knack of liveliness that is quite Frenchy, and stimulates the reader into a ravenous delight. Puritan, Pilgrim, Cavalier, Quaker, and Catholic are made to re-enact their Colonial parts, and the resulting drama is full of action, humor, wit, and pathos."—Boston Globe.

Two volumes. Illustrated with four photogravures and numerous head- and tail-sketches in each volume. Satine, in a box, $3.00; half calf or half morocco, $6.00.

The Making of Pennsylvania.

An Analysis of the Elements of the Population and the Formative Influences that created one of the Greatest of the American States.

12mo. Cloth, $1.50.

The Evolution of the Constitution of the United States.

Showing that it is a Development of Progressive History, and not an Isolated Document.
